Women's Right To Know - Resource Directory

How to use the Women's Right to Know Resource Directory ...

- Look for the county where you live or the county where you would like to receive services.
- Look for the type of agency you need.
- Call one of the agencies listed and tell them what you need.
- If they are not able to help you with what you need, ask them whom you should call.

Please remember there are many people who can help you. They will answer your questions or tell you whom to call. It is important to keep asking questions until you get the help you need.

Statewide Services:

In the Women's Right to Know Resource Directory you will find the name, address, and telephone numbers of agencies and organizations by county in West Virginia that may provide you with services.

- Financial and health-care services for you during your pregnancy and childbirth
- Financial and health-care services for your newborn baby and while the child is growing up
- Adoption agencies
- Pregnancy prevention counseling and medical referrals

The following agencies can provide statewide medical, financial, and support services. Some of the agencies have special eligibility requirements. You will want to contact the agencies you are interested in to see if you qualify for services.

Services By County:

The Women’s Right to Know Resource Directory lists the following public and private agencies, organizations and services. The directory provides a list of services in a county.

Adoption Agencies

These agencies and individuals provide services to pregnant women who are considering placing their child for adoption or foster care. Many of these agencies financially assist the woman through the pregnancy and permit the birth mother to select the adoptive parents.

Family Resource Networks

Family Resource Networks (FRNs) are community based organizations for the provision of prevention, education and early intervention activities focusing on the needs of families and children.

Local Health Departments

A local health department is part of a county or city government that provides public health services. A local health department may provide health promotion programs and screenings, infectious disease control and prevention, and public health education and information services.

Pediatric Providers

For information on local pediatric care providers and services (infant, child and adolescent health), contact the Office of Maternal, Child and Family Health at 1 (800) 642-8522.

Pregnancy Care Centers

These private agencies provide counseling, support services and referrals for pregnant women. Many of these centers offer free pregnancy testing and may assist a pregnant woman in finding medical care, legal assistance, clothing and baby care items.

Prenatal Care Providers

For information on local prenatal care providers and services, contact the Office of Maternal, Child and Family Health at 1 (800) 642-8522.

WIC (Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children)

The West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources contracts with agencies and organizations to provide services under the Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC). WIC provides nutrition education, nutritious foods, breastfeeding support, and referrals to other health and human services.

This publication was produced in compliance with West Virginia Code 16-2I-1, et seq., known as the Women’s Right to Know Act, which requires provision of a resource directory of public and private agencies to assist a female through pregnancy, upon childbirth, and in early childhood years.

This list of organizations may not be complete. The West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources reviewed possible organizations to include on this list and included those that most fit the description outlined in WC Code 16-2I-1. The listing of organizations in this directory does not constitute or imply any endorsement or recommendation of the organizations, or the services they provide, by the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources or any of their employees.
